WELCOME TO KYN

We seek to enrich and enhance the lives of every person who joins our home; to meaningfully engage the mind, nourish the spirit, and maintain optimum levels of physical and emotional health. We achieve this by providing genuinely unparalleled standards of care imbued with love, respect, safety and warmth in a place of exceptional refinement and comfort.

Our ethos is informed by the KYN team's own personal experiences with their families' quest for care. Our talented leadership, nursing, and hospitality teams have applied these insights with empathy to completely reimagine what a care home can and should be.

Every detail of what we do has been carefully considered to create an uplifting and enjoyable environment where family and friends genuinely look forward to spending precious time together.

OUTSTANDING CARE

HOW KYN CARES

At KYN, to care is to honour our residents as unique individuals and to embrace the person they were and the person they are today. We are sensitive to their profession, public and familial role, hopes, interests and inspirations, and what we can do to nourish their mind, body, and spirit.

We strive to enhance our residents' quality of life so that families and friends can have peace of mind in what can be a uniquely difficult time with fast-changing and complex situations. Our team's personal and professional experiences have led us to build KYN as the home in which our own families, cherished friends – and we ourselves – would wish to live.

We believe that the best physical and emotional outcomes are achieved through a holistic approach – treating a person's physical and mental health with a 360-degree approach to wellbeing.

We begin with an in-depth assessment of each resident, sensitively compiled in detail and over time, to learn as much as possible about their history, clinical conditions, interests, and outlook. Only then do we build a bespoke plan tailored to their specific needs.

Focusing on the cornerstones of good health – preventative intervention, nutrition, appropriate physical activity, mental stimulation, and an active social life – our aim is to materially improve our residents' wellbeing and enhance their quality of life.

The KYN Household

We have created a positive, enriching, and uplifting environment where residents have as much autonomy as they wish, and their individual choices, independence, and maturity are respected.

Before each resident joins us, we take the time to understand their personality, interests, background, and individual needs. It is a nuanced, two-way process that is continuously adapted and improved throughout their stay. Only then do we create a bespoke care plan and assign each resident a dedicated household lead, nurse, and support team who share their interests and can take care of them like family, supporting as and when required or just being on hand to anticipate their needs before they arise.

The benefits of a more familiar group of people are immediately recognisable; the opportunity for companionship and meaningful relationships is not only life-affirming but is proven to positively influence both physically and psychologically.

HOLISTIC CARE

TYPES OF CARE

RESIDENTIAL

For those with minimal care requirements, moving to a KYN home provides a fulfilling, independent lifestyle with new friends, delicious, nourishing food, a concierge to find those sold-out tickets or a table at a favourite restaurant, a convivial and beautiful environment, and a range of life-enriching activities designed to meet a kaleidoscope of interests and needs.

Should extra support be required, KYN's experienced nursing team can ensure that the correct care and attention are provided. We take the time to know our residents as individuals and will always anticipate when their requirements may change.

NURSING

KYN homes provide the most comfortable, supportive and enabling environment for those needing care.

Our nursing teams provide dedicated care for those who need more support than our residential care can provide, such as rehabilitative care and help with physical disabilities and mobility concerns or long-term illness.

Taking the time to identify and respond to every individual's specific needs and abilities enables us to create bespoke care plans that deliver the highest standards of clinical excellence, safety, and wellbeing day and night.

DEMENTIA

At KYN Hurlingham, we understand that a person's experience of dementia is as individual and unique as they are. We welcome residents whose nursing needs take precedence over their dementia needs.

Our focus is on supporting their emotional wellbeing, helping them maintain their identity, dignity, interests and independence, and enabling a continued engagement with their family. We do this by offering choice and respect, minimising medicinal intervention where possible and placing the emphasis on research-led care.

Should a resident develop dementia in our care, we closely monitor how it presents itself and adjust their care plan accordingly. Should the illness progress into requiring specialist dementia care, we can organise a transfer to another KYN residence with a highly skilled and specifically trained dementia support team.

PALLIATIVE (END OF LIFE)

Our compassionate and devoted teams approach palliative care with great empathy and sensitivity to enable residents and their families and friends to feel as comfortable and supported as possible, physically and emotionally.

We believe it is a privilege to be entrusted with caring for residents at this stage of their lives. We work closely with residents' loved ones and medical and health professionals to design a nuanced care plan to manage pain, maintain dignity and fill one's final moments with love, free from fear, with wishes respected.

RESPIRE

Our respite care is an excellent choice for those who do not require long-term care but need support to aid recovery or an interim solution for those moments when family and friends are unavailable.

Temporary respite care at KYN provides all the benefits of belonging to our life-enriching community while offering an essential opportunity for family caregivers to dedicate time to their own wellbeing. Meanwhile, their loved one can experience a change of scenery and enjoy a new or favourite pastime in a safe, loving, and nurturing environment.

All care at KYN begins with getting to know our residents, no matter how long they intend to stay with us. Creating a detailed and bespoke care plan for our respite residents allows our experienced team to deliver the right care at the right time until they are ready to return home.

POST-SURGERY

Our post-surgery care offers a calm, restorative environment where residents can regain strength, mobility and confidence with the reassurance of expert nursing care and exceptional hospitality.

Our experienced nursing and rehabilitation teams work closely with residents, families and healthcare professionals to create bespoke care plans that support every stage of recovery. From pain and medication management to physiotherapy, wound care and mobility support, we provide attentive, nurse-led care designed to promote comfort, safety and independence, helping to ease the transition from hospital to home.

EXCEPTIONAL COMFORT

KYN HURLINGHAM

A HUMANITARIAN HISTORY

An extraordinary Grade II-listed building, KYN Hurlingham has long been associated with eminent Victorians and a tradition of philanthropy and community care.

Situated in southwest London's Parsons Green, KYN Hurlingham is nestled between the leafy banks of the River Thames and the 42 acres of Hurlingham Park – home to the prestigious sporting and social club, The Hurlingham Club.

Built in 1855, this remarkable building boasts a beautiful combination of Gothic Revival and Tudor Revival architectural styles. Horace Francis, the architect responsible for designing it was commissioned by Laurence Sullivan, a prominent British statesman who held the position of Deputy Secretary at War.

Sullivan, grieving over the loss of his wife Elizabeth, who was the younger sister of the esteemed Prime Minister Lord Palmerston, wanted to honour her memory by creating this stunning building. With its intricate details, impressive structure, and rich history, this building stands as a true testament to the skill and vision of its creators.

The Sullivan family lived in Broom House on the riverfront, and Laurence endowed part of his large farming estate between Broomhouse Lane and Daisy Lane to the building. It was named “the Elizabethan Open Air School” for his late wife and intended as a “Ragged School” for the children of his estate workers. The Ragged Schools were the new 19th-century charities for the free education and housing of severely impoverished children, whose destitute appearance and chronic ill health led to their unjust exclusion from Sunday schools.

In the Victorian and Edwardian eras, 120 boys and girls were tended to here. Sullivan's daughter Charlotte continued the family tradition of philanthropy and is well known in the area for having funded churches, workingmen's clubs and selling land to Fulham Council in 1903 to be turned into a public recreation ground, our present-day South Park.

The Elizabethan continued as an open-air school until 1920, when London County Council bought it and turned it into a school exclusively for children with tuberculosis. From that point, 75 boys and girls from age four to 15 would stay here as residential pupils for six months to two years before returning to ordinary school, visiting the Brompton Hospital for medical treatment twice a week.

By the 1950s, improvements in treatments for tuberculosis lessened the need for open-air schools and most of them closed, including the Elizabethan, which shuttered its doors in 1960.

It then became a youth club known as the Eight Feathers for many years, and then the Castle Club until 2007. Today we are honoured to have been entrusted with its legacy, and have been meticulous in maintaining its heritage and the existing fabric of the building while adding an elegant, contemporary, purpose-built extension to the rear.

HISTORY MEETS MODERNITY

Today, KYN Hurlingham provides unparalleled residential, nursing, palliative, respite and post-surgery care. Working in partnership with world-renowned interior designer Nina Campbell, we ensure the KYN experience begins from the moment you first set foot on our grounds.

We have meticulously considered every aspect of our home to provide a safe, uplifting and inviting environment for our residents and visitors alike.

We have created a space that is aesthetically pleasing and promotes a sense of wellbeing and happiness. Our goal is to provide a home that feels like a sanctuary where residents can thrive and enjoy life to the fullest.

The layout of KYN Hurlingham has been perfected to suit a range of complex requirements without compromising on quality, disempowering our residents or infringing on their need for independence. Our bedrooms are sensitively arranged to accommodate the most particular of needs, with the ease of assisted living and safety subtly combined with the comforts of home.

THE GREAT ROOM

The Great Room is much more than just a social space; it is the very essence of our home designed to foster feelings of warmth, tranquillity, and comfort, thanks to its original beams, intricate stonework, bespoke artwork and elegant tapestry that adorn the walls. It is a space that residents take immense pride in and a place where special moments are shared, providing the perfect spot to come together and enjoy a pre-dinner drink from our marble-topped bar or catch up with friends old and new. It is also the primary location for cultural talks, salons and celebrations.

BEDROOMS

Located in the characterful grade II listed building or the light and airy modern extension, the bedrooms at KYN Hurlingham feature bespoke furniture, elegant fittings, and spacious en-suite bathrooms. Our fully furnished bedrooms come in a choice of designs and outlooks.

THE LIBRARY

Our library is a haven for book lovers and is stocked with an array of interesting and unusual books. To supply our shelves with the best literary works, we have partnered with Heywood Hill, one of London's leading bookshops and book curators to Her Late Majesty Queen Elizabeth II.

Whether you are a fan of literary classics or new publications, you will find a wealth of thought-provoking and engaging works that cater to all manner of interests, with further titles also available upon request. The comfortable seating and original features of the library make it the perfect spot to lose oneself in a book.

THE KYTH SPA

The KYTH Spa and hair salon is a serene and soothing environment that provides a wide variety of treatments to restore the body and spirit. Under the expert hands of our professional and highly experienced hairdressers and therapy practitioners, we ensure our residents can unwind and indulge to look and feel their best. We also offer therapeutic massage, reflexology, homeopathy, and acupuncture.

Throughout our home, you will discover Bamford's signature Geranium product line, which has a refreshing and earthy scent of botanicals. Each product is naturally scented with pure essential oils, characterised by peppermint, eucalyptus, and lavender notes. Keeping with KYN's holistic approach, Bamford's philosophy is based on the idea that the products we use on our bodies should be as nourishing and caring as the food we consume.

Our spa therapist is trained to provide a range of treatments from Bamford's menu. These treatments are a fusion of ancient healing traditions that work on both physical and mental aspects of your wellbeing. They help calm your mind, harmonise emotions, and rejuvenate the body.

SOCIAL SPACES

In addition to The Great Room, three further social spaces across the home provide choice for our residents and a somewhat more relaxed atmosphere. They offer a more intimate setting for a quiet dinner, a bright and airy space to catch up with friends, or a relaxing spot to unwind with a book.

HOME CINEMA

Residents can relax in a luxurious home cinema, enveloped in a rich, dark navy fabric on both the walls and ceiling. Featuring a single row of comfortable armchairs, allowing for uninterrupted viewing, it is equipped with advanced acoustics and atmospheric lighting to create an immersive viewing experience.

Residents and their guests can enjoy a diverse selection of contemporary and classic films and performances from well-known theatres, opera houses, and other cultural venues, along with any individual requests.

TERRACES

On the upper floor of the building, the Castle Terrace is ideal for relaxing and enjoying a moment of tranquillity. From this vantage point, you can enjoy the light breeze and sip on a refreshing drink while admiring the lush, manicured Walled Garden to the East.

Overlooking Hurlingham Park, the Sun Terrace adjoining the Sun Room offers the same level of comfort and solace, where you may even hear The Hurlingham Club's resident peacocks. Both terraces provide the perfect spot to soak up some vitamin D and enjoy a moment of peace and serenity.

WALLED GARDEN

The Walled Garden at KYN Hurlingham has been created by leading garden designer Randle Siddeley to be a sanctuary for our residents and their families to spend time in an extraordinary and verdant oasis in the heart of Fulham. Few private gardens exist in Central London to rival it.

Walled gardens were conceived of in Victorian England as places of calm and reflection, and ours is no different: a place of tranquillity and beauty where our residents can sit in the sunshine reading or drinking tea with friends or family members. The central lawn has been designed as a flexible space for Summer yoga, bowls and croquet, with the surrounding raised beds providing easy access for growing herbs, salad crops and cut flowers to be used in the home. The gardens have been designed to delight the senses, providing colour and fragrance during all four seasons.

The garden hosts parties, lunches, BBQs, and drinks for our residents and plays a central role in their lives. They will be encouraged to use it as much as the weather permits.

ENHANCED CARE

INNOVATION

Our homes reflect the latest therapeutic approaches and clinical insights in providing care. From advanced care-planning technology to acoustic monitoring systems to ensure undisturbed and secure sleeping, the most pioneering and innovative developments are subtly embedded in the comforts of home.

The needs of older people can be complex, and many require specific nursing or memory care. We know we can influence and improve outcomes by investing in every aspect of an individual's unique journey. By creating a culture of transparency with continual learning, feedback, modification, and improvement, we can provide the very highest standards of care and consideration to our residents and their families.

ACOUSTIC MONITORING

Our acoustic monitoring system employs the latest artificial intelligence and machine learning to enhance the quality of sleep and wellbeing of residents.

The system detects even the most subtle disturbance or changes in breathing patterns and instantly alerts our care team to check on our residents for their safety throughout the night, typically before they have even stirred.

This personalised approach to care allows team members to learn each resident's unique night routine instead of conducting hourly checks that may disrupt their sleep. Residents are likely to be more alert during the day, have an improved appetite and increased engagement in life-enrichment activities.

PAIN MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

Our homes utilise advanced artificial intelligence to offer optimal pain management for our residents. The technology scrutinises facial muscle movements and pain-related behaviours to detect the presence of pain even when it is not apparent. We can determine which pain management interventions to implement and monitor their effectiveness over time by calculating an overall pain score. This technology enables us to provide our residents with the care and attention they rightfully deserve.

FALLS PREVENTION SYSTEM

The thermal imaging technology allows residents to enjoy a greater degree of personal safety and independence. The technology monitors each resident's bedroom and notifies caregivers of any movement while also illuminating a pathway to assist with navigation and minimise the risk of injury.

Each resident's bed is surrounded by an infrared curtain that discreetly monitors when a resident gets out of bed. For those who are more mobile, an alarm can be set to sound if they do not return to bed within ten minutes. This system greatly reduces the risk of falls and hospital admissions, enhances sleep quality, and enables the team to address individual needs promptly.

HOTEL STYLE TELEVISION PORTAL

Our state-of-the-art smart TV is designed to be user-friendly, with an intuitive interface that makes it easy for residents to navigate and access all its features. In addition to the standard functions you would expect from a modern television, such as streaming content, our interactive TV provides a wealth of helpful information for residents. Furthermore, the TV helps residents stay oriented and up-to-date by displaying the current date, weather, and news headlines, ensuring they always have the latest information at their fingertips.

DIETARY REQUIREMENTS

We take great care to ensure the safety and wellbeing of our residents and have implemented advanced protocols and procedures designed to address the issue of allergens. Our care system has been integrated with a unique feature that alerts us immediately if a resident orders a menu item that includes any ingredients they are allergic or sensitive to. This means that we take a proactive approach to prevent any adverse reactions that could be harmful or uncomfortable for our residents.

FULFILLING DAYS

LIFE ENRICHMENT

We believe that a fulfilling, meaningful, engaged, and contented life can be enjoyed at every stage of our existence. We are, therefore, passionate about enriching the mind, body, and spirit of our residents and offer a wealth of opportunities to create, watch, listen, participate, and enjoy.

Our thoughtful and intelligent selection of daily changing activities is less a catalogue of events and more a part of life, something essential, pleasurable, and designed to provide sensory and neurological benefits. Our residents have absolute autonomy over their day and choose the things that interest and inspire them so they can experience their favourite pastimes or explore something new.

We value the pleasures of sociability for their positive impact on physical and mental wellbeing, and our guiding principle is 'to bring the world into the home'.

MIND

We wish to engage the minds of everyone in our care and offer meaningful opportunities to exercise the brain and embrace new learning. A cultured programme includes our Literature Appreciation Society, Current Affairs Club, and resident-led gatherings exploring contemporary issues and personal interests. We host talks, lectures, and salons featuring experts from the arts, sciences, and humanities, reflecting the curiosity, experiences, and passions of our residents.

ARTS

Our arts programme encourages creativity, motivates broader conversation about cultural values, and engages residents in interesting goings-on in the wider world.

The Life Enrichment and Wellbeing team brings London's vibrant cultural scene directly into the home through partnerships with galleries and museums, creative workshops, residencies, exhibitions with professional creatives, and a programme of talks from experts in the arts, humanities, and sciences.

Our home cinema streams films, ballet performances, opera shows, jazz concerts, and classical or contemporary music concerts. We also organise live music concerts across all genres of music, which are customised to reflect the preferences of our residents. We are committed to enabling our residents to pursue their cultural interests and enjoy a fulfilling lifestyle.

NATURE

Our landscape gardens are designed to enhance the overall wellbeing of our residents with seasonal beauty that promotes mood, cognition, and mental and physical health.

The gardens provide year-round, sensory-rich appeal through imaginative planting of herbaceous borders. Residents and their guests are invited to participate in flower arranging and the potting, planting, weeding, and cutting of shrubs, fruit, and herbs – some of which are used by our chefs for picked-for-your-plate freshness.

BODY

Our physical activities are designed to reconnect residents to their bodies and external environments, both inside and outside our homes. We offer residents the opportunity to support their physical health by exploring different types of dance, all tailored to individual ability, alongside slow, strengthening exercise classes such as Pilates, Yoga, or Tai Chi, which are designed to improve posture, stability, and coordination.

We also encourage interaction with the local community by participating in local events and societies, afternoon teas, tickets to local concerts, and group expeditions to areas of outstanding natural beauty.

SPIRIT

KYN has a holistic approach to physical and mental wellbeing and is passionately committed to helping residents find balance, peace, and harmony within themselves.

To create a truly comfortable and inviting home, we understand that attention to detail is vital. Our air-handling systems not only filter the air but also diffuse essential oils that promote a positive mood and sense of wellbeing.

We also believe music is integral to creating a welcoming and relaxing atmosphere. Our bespoke music system is designed to complement the overall ambience of our home. We carefully curate playlists and select songs that evoke a certain mood or feeling, whether it's a cosy night in or a lively gathering with friends and family. Together, these elements work in harmony to create a home that looks beautiful and feels truly welcoming and rejuvenating.

We support all forms of denominational worship and will assist residents in maintaining community connections and with their at-home worship. All individuals will have access to the resources and guidance they need to practice their faith in a meaningful and fulfilling way.

We also offer a wide range of therapies in our KYTH Spa, designed to promote energy, restore the body and psyche to their natural balance and revitalise from top to toe.

Inclusive treatments can be booked in advance with our in-house therapist or with specialist visiting therapists who can provide reflexology, homeopathy, and other holistic experiences, such as craniosacral therapy, which applies gentle touch to relieve tension in the central nervous system to promote wellbeing and boost health and immunity.

CRAFTED CUISINE

EXCEPTIONAL FOOD

We believe that our residents deserve to have an extraordinary culinary experience. Our Executive Chef Tristan Welch, previously Head Chef of the two-Michelin-starred Petrus, has meticulously crafted menus that feature exceptional dishes, each imbued with a conscious approach to nutrition.

From the choice of ingredients to the cooking techniques employed, every aspect of our cuisine is designed with the wellbeing and satisfaction of our residents in mind. We take pride in serving delectable, healthy meals that our residents and their guests can enjoy together.

At KYN, exceptional food is integral to our philosophy of good living.

Tristan collaborates closely with clinical nutritionist Eva Humphries MSc from the British Association for Nutrition and Lifestyle Medicine (BANT) to ensure that the latest research in diet and nutrition is incorporated into our menus so that they both taste delicious and form part of a nutritionally balanced diet.

Our approach focuses on plenty of fresh, seasonal fruits and vegetables, high-quality protein sources and minimally processed carbohydrates as well as sufficient good fats forming part of dishes wherever possible.

For example, our KYN oil blend, comprises the right balance of Omega 3, 6 & 9 oils which both nourishes our residents as well as providing multiple health benefits when consumed regularly and as part of a balanced diet. Our 'Nice Cream' is a healthier take on ice cream and is both dairy free and contains no refined sugar.

Favouring nutrients over calories, our menus nourish both body and soul, leaving our residents feeling satisfied, healthy and cared for.

The menus and service are delivered to five-star hotel standards, whether residents are eating in the privacy of their own room at whatever time they choose or settling down for an intimate lunch or dinner with family and friends in the heart of our home, The Great Room.

Our chefs are tasked with getting to know each of our residents personally to understand their tastes, favourite dishes, and dietary requirements. They are on hand to discuss the catch of the day or freshly sourced ingredients – some of which come from our very own gardens.

Good conversation over good food is one of life's principal joys, and we welcome our residents' friends and family to join them for meals, continuing many years of memories created around a shared table.

Our private dining room is available for exclusive use, with further spaces throughout the home also available for entertaining and celebrating with family and friends.

A shared meal at KYN is something that residents, their families, and friends genuinely look forward to.
